

Body Language Reveals Oscar Secrets

ATLANTA (Wireless Flash) -- Watching the Oscars on Sunday? Well, a body Language expert says the most revealing part will be the pre-show red carpet interviews.

Body language expert Patti Wood says the way a celeb stands on the red carpet speaks volumes about what's going on in his beautiful mind.

For instance, Russell Crowe is bringing longtime flame, Danielle Spencer, to the ceremony, but since he rarely looks at her in public, Wood doubts there's much to the relationship.

Ditto for Penelope Cruz and Tom Cruise. Wood says they always look in other directions and keep their waists away from each other when they stand close.

On the other hand, if you want to know which stars are hot for each other, look at their feet. Wood says people point their feet at the person they find most attractive.

David Moye, Flash.net

Patti Wood web site: www.pattiwood.net