"US Magazine" asked Patti Wood to analyze Julia Robert's body language with various beaus in the following photographs. Patti's comments appeared in the May 13, 2002 issue.

A Body-Language Expert's Analysis

WITH DYLAN MCDERMOTT: "Neither of them is happy" says Wood. "They have closed-mouthed smiles and lots of space between them."

WITH KIEFER SUTHERLAND: "She's crazy about him, but she's doing all of the initiating. His heart and his whole body are facing away from her."

WITH JASON PATRIC: "She's walking, but he's not; their heads are apart - they're not in sync. And her strained smile masks her true emotions."

Pro Patti Wood evaluates Julia and her men

WITH LYLE LOVETT: "This was her father-protector thing: She's posing for the camera, and his hand on her outer arm is a protective gesture."

WITH BENJAMIN BRATT: "He's initiating the contact. Look at the tension in his neck - he's drawing her closer, but she's pulling away to be the star."

WITH DANNY MODER: "They mirror each other: their smiles, their slouches, the hands out. His casual style matches her real state of being."
